

Build an employee travel approval application for corporate

PROJECT REPORT

1.INTRODUCTION

1.1 Overview

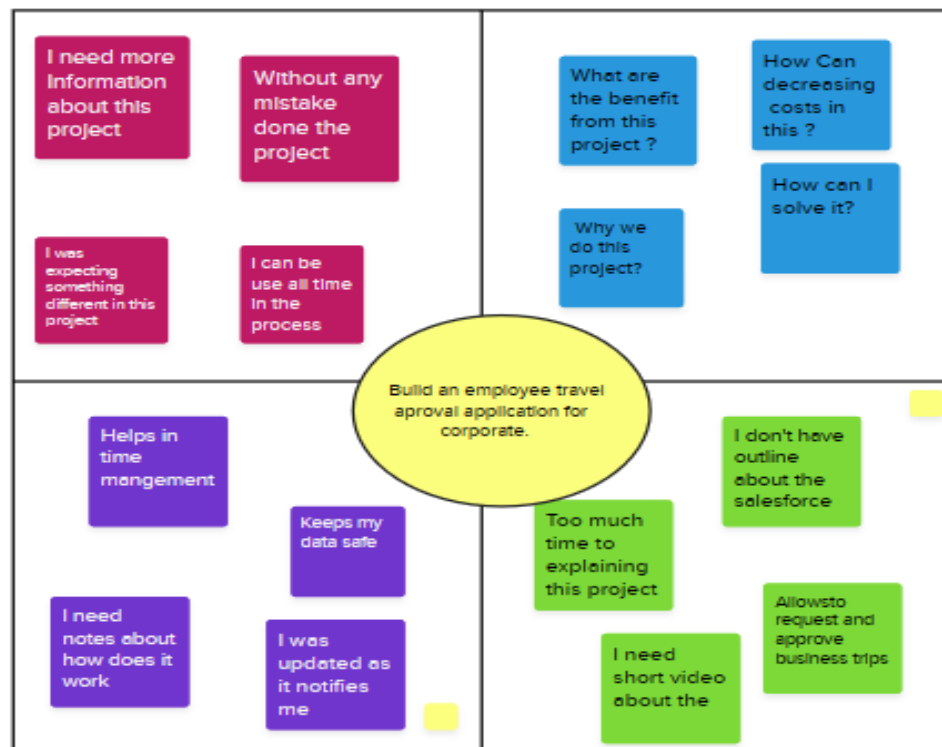

Employees travel on business trips to attend conferences, perform research, scout potential locations, meet suppliers, visit clients and for numerous other essential reasons. The employee then forwards the request to the assigned administrative authorities and stakeholders through outdated methods of communication.

1.2 Purpose

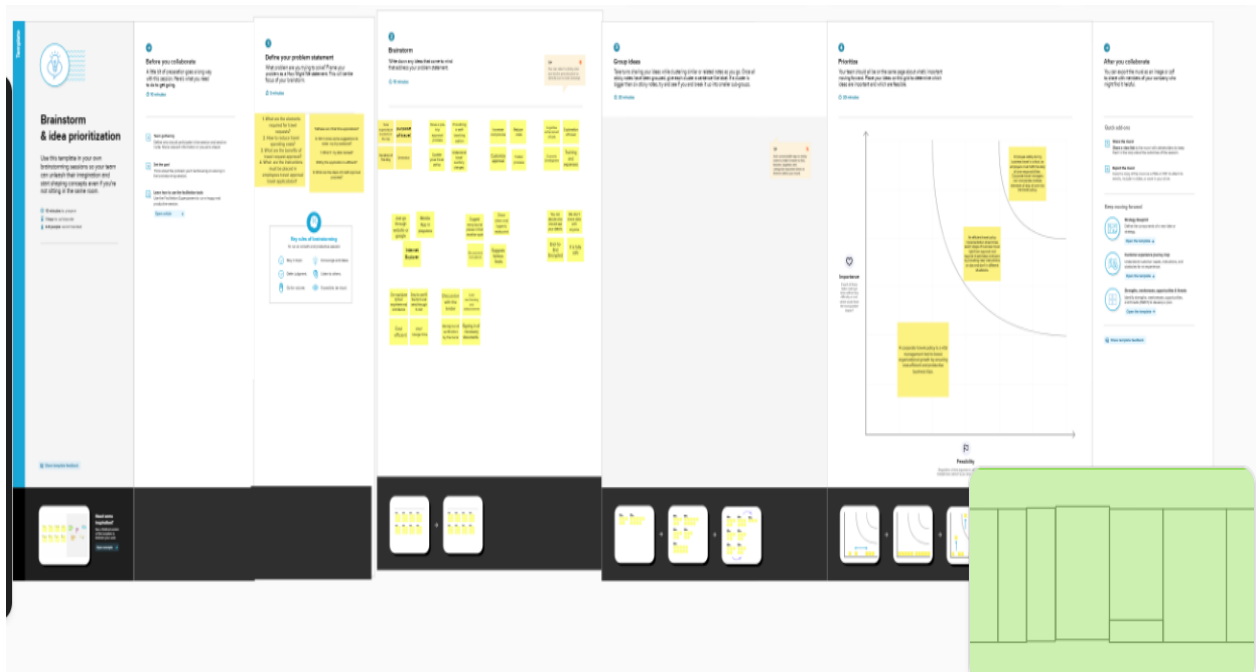

To give management an overview of the intended business trip from both a cost and a strategic point of view. People have to travel for work, to move location, to study or attend family. People like to travel for many kinds of pleasure. They like to see beautiful places, explore cultures and cuisines. There are three main reasons for travel. These are Leisure tourism or Visiting friends and relatives or Business tourism.

2. PROBLEM DEFINITION AND DESIGN THINKING

Advantages and Disadvantages

Advantages:

- Streamlined process: An employee travel approval application can help to streamline the approval process for corporate travel requests, making it faster and more efficient.
- Enhanced visibility: The application can provide managers with greater visibility into travel requests, including information about the employees itinerary and travel expenses.
- Improved compliance : The application can help to ensure compliance with corporate travel policies, reducing the risk of non-compliance and associated penalties.

Disadvantages:

- Implementation code: Building an employee travel approval application can be expensive, particularly if the company needs to hire a developer or software development team to create the application.
- Adoption challenges: Getting employees to adopt a new travel approval application may be challenging, particularly if they are used to existing approval processes.
- Security and data privacy: An employee travel approval application will need to be designed with security and data privacy in mind, which can add complexity to the development process and increase.

Application:

1. Streamlined approval process: The travel approval application can automate the approval process for employee for employee travel request, making it faster and more efficient. This can help save time for both employees and managers.
2. Cost control: The application can be designed to set limits on travel expenses based on company policies and budgets. This can help control costs and prevent employees from overspending on travel.

3. Compliance: The application can help ensure that all travel requests comply with company policies and legal regulations. This can help avoid legal and financial risks associated with non-compliant travel.
4. Travel management: The application can provide a centralized platform for managing employee travel, including booking flights, hotels and transportation. This can help simplify the travel planning process and ensure that all travel arrangements are made in a timely and cost effective manner.

FUTURE SCOPE:

1. Integration with other corporate systems: As more companies move towards integrated technology solutions, there is potential for employee travel applications to integrate with other corporate systems, such as human resources, finance, and accounting.
2. Mobile optimization: With the increasing use of smartphones and tablets, there is potential for employee travel approval applications to become more mobile-friendly, allowing employees to submit travel requests and managers to approve them on the go.
3. Data analytics: By analyzing employee travel data, companies can identify trends and patterns in travel behavior, helping to inform travel policies and optimize travel expenses.
4. Virtual reality: The use of virtual reality can potentially enhance the employee travel experience by allowing employees to preview their travel arrangements before departure, including hotel rooms, conference centers, and other venues.

CONCLUSION:

Tourism is a complex system that is built up of industry sectors including accommodation, recreation and entertainment, food and beverage services. It encompasses domestic, inbound, and outbound travel for business, leisure, or other purposes. And because of this large scope, tourism development requires participation from all walks of life, including private business, governmental agencies, educational institutions, communities and citizens.

Recognizing the diverse nature of the industry and the significant contribution tourism makes toward economic and social value for British

Columbians is important. There remains a great deal of work to better educate members of the tourism industry
